is a site about man, about the Earth and the Cosmos, about science and technology, about the riddles and mysteries in the world around us. About the things and people that make great insights happen. We are convinced that there is nothing more exciting than man's quest to know the world around him, the galaxies and the stars, nothing more fascinating than the scientific discoveries that move the world forward. There are adventures, exciting destinies, people, situations.

Is there anything more exciting than man's quest to know himself, the world around him, the galaxies and the stars? We all open our eyes wide when we hear another "Eureka!" And with curiosity and interest we let it enter our heads, our homes, our universities and our offices. We are happy because it changes our lives and makes them better.

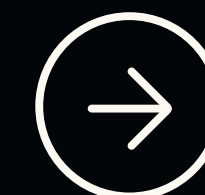

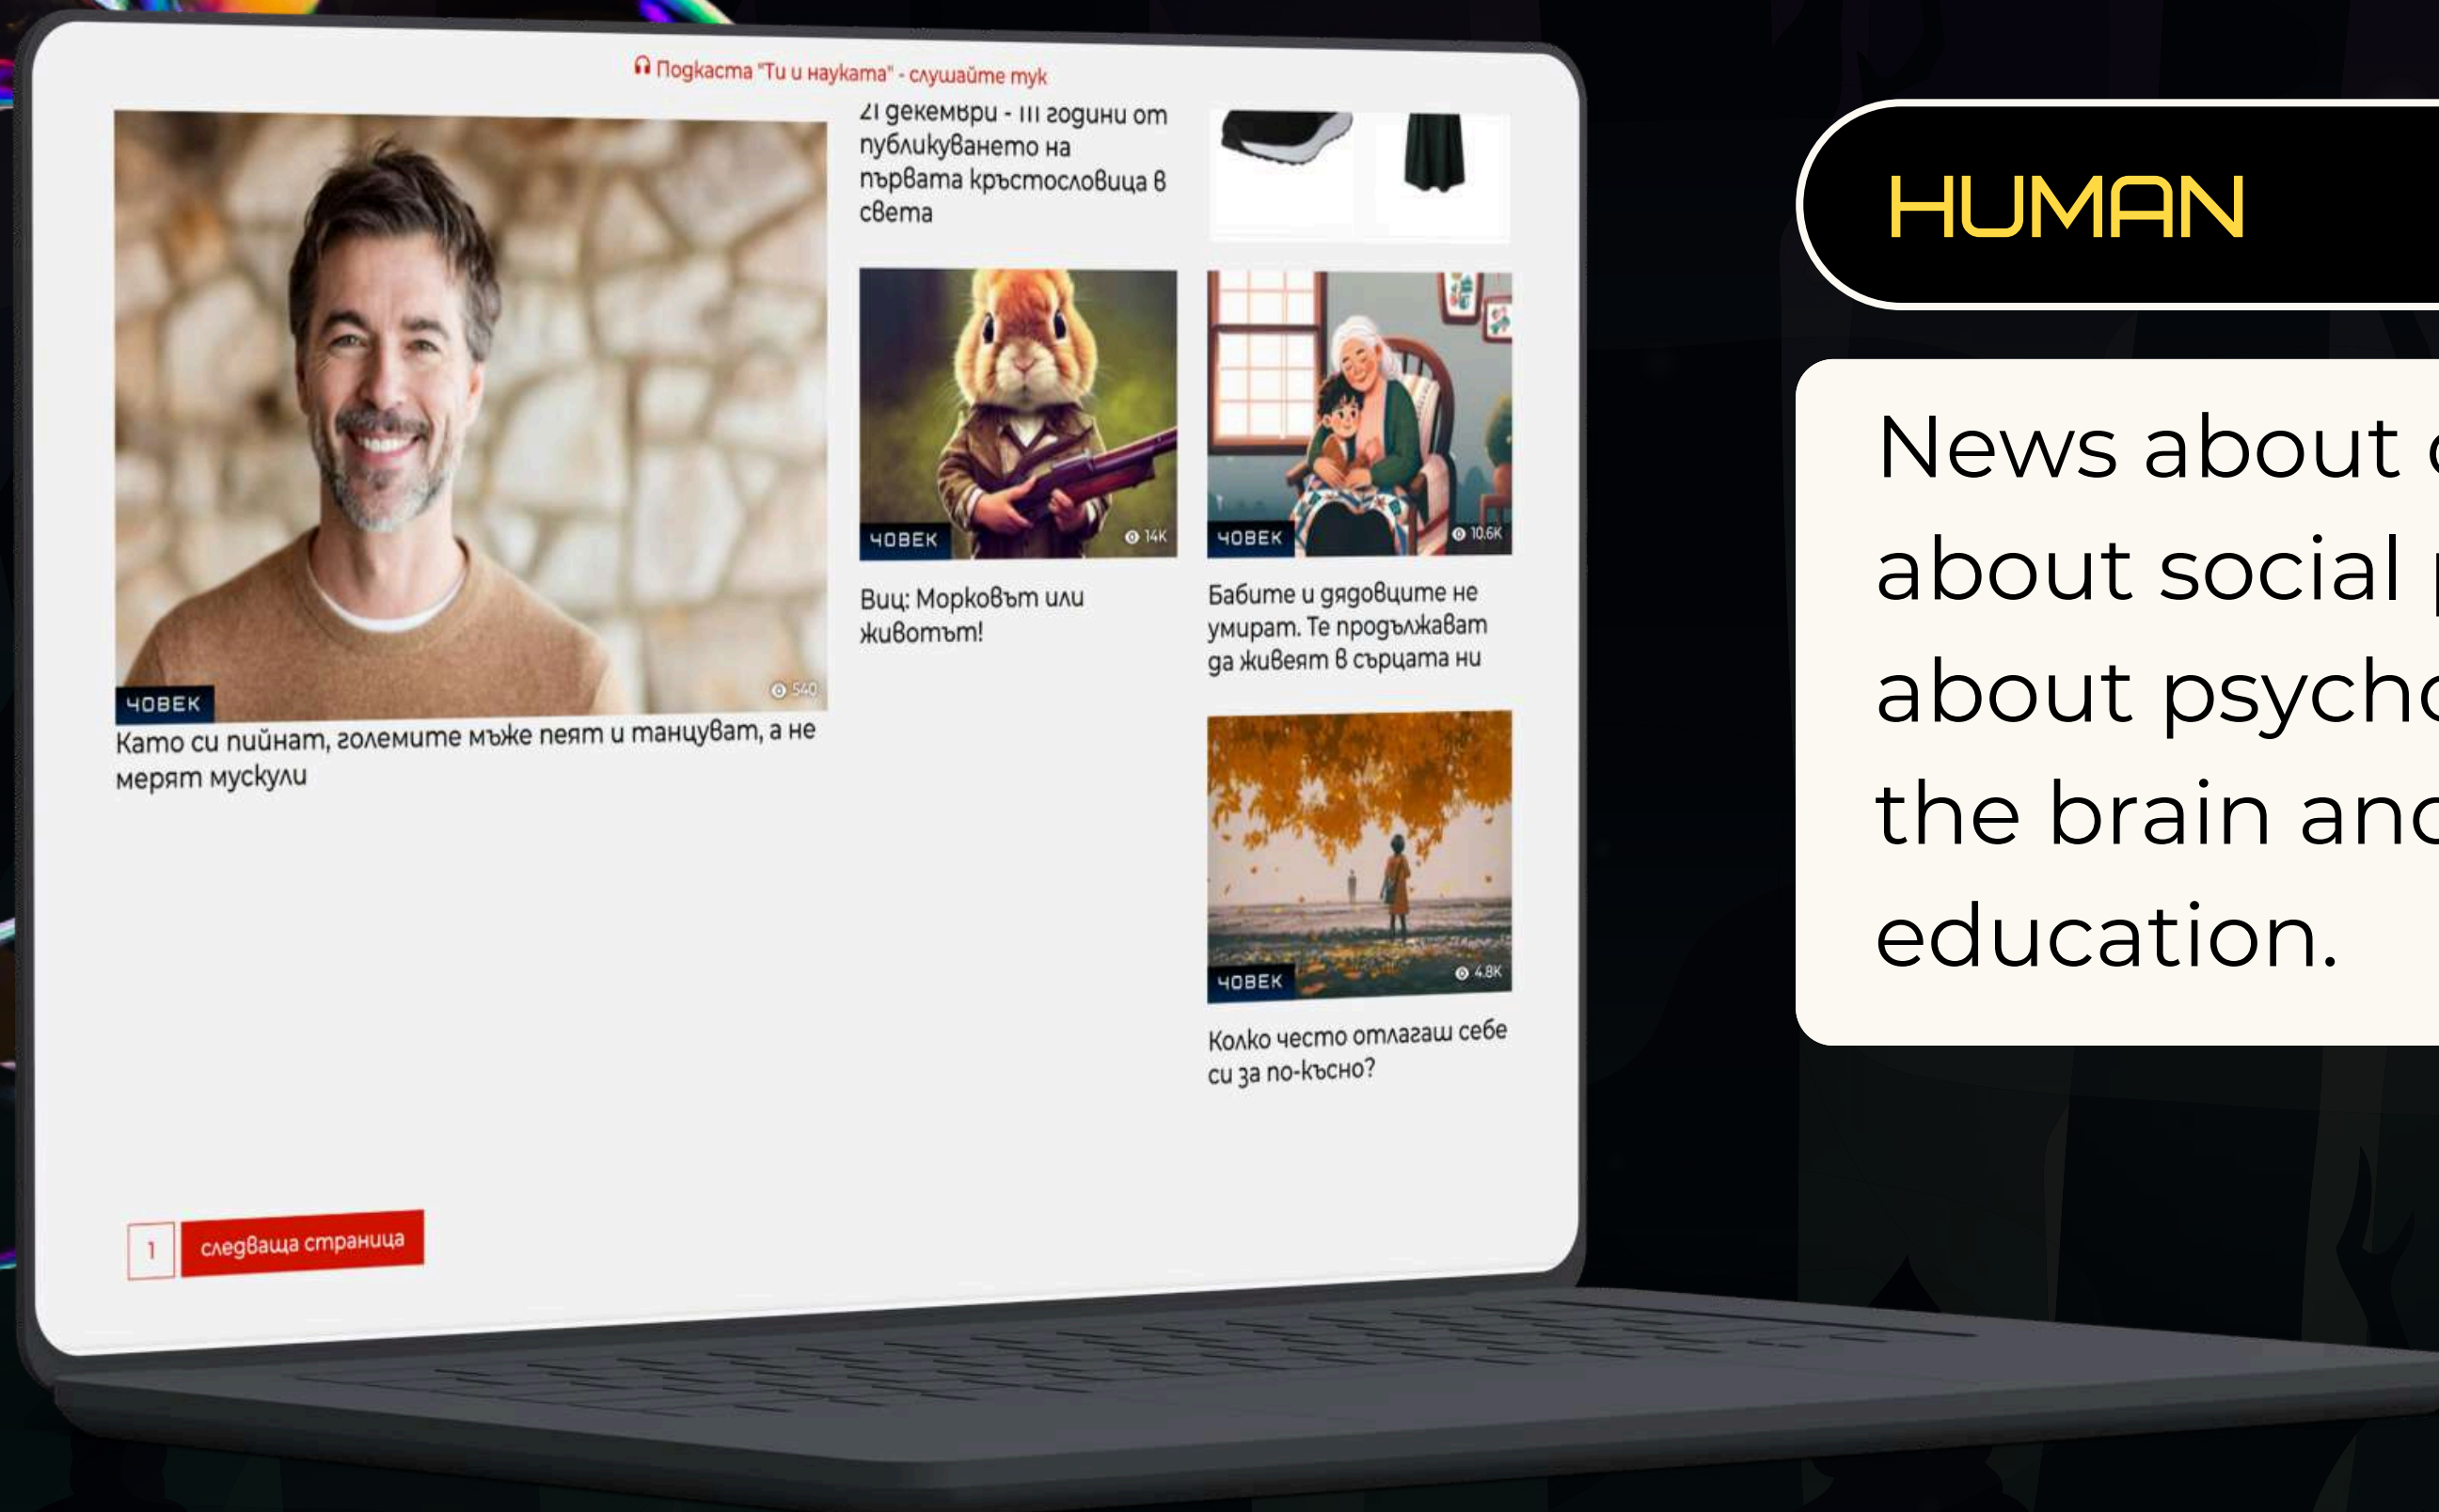

In scientific discoveries that move the world forward, there are adventures, exciting destinies, people, situations. Also mysteries that are still waiting for the answer to their "Why?"

We will lead you through the labyrinths of the human imagination, introduce you to the achievements of the human mind, show you the limits of the human will.
